REMINDERS

I will be sending home snow clothes before break!

If your child wishes to play on any remaining snow after break, snow pants and boots will be required. Otherwise jackets and tennis shoes are fine!

OUR WEEK OF LEARNING

Reading: We've finished Front Desk and had so many deep discussions about diversity and inclusion. We're starting a new read aloud, Pay it Forward. This book is all about doing the right thing even when no one is watching.

Writing: We're wrapping up our Blackout Poetry unit and moving into fiction for the end of the year. We're going to be writing some short stories.

Math: We're learning more about fraction and mixed number multiplication. It's amazing to see how much we've learned about fractions this year and to put all of our skills together.

Theme: We're building the town of Crested Butte!

Spelling: Double consonants in between syllables change the pronunciation of a word. For example, super vs. supper.

Grammar: Commas and quotation marks in dialogue and direct quotations.
