UPCOMING DATES

September 14th	Scholastic Book Order (due by 3:30)
September 16th	Wednesday Early Release @ 1:50
September 28th	No School - Teacher PD Day

REMINDERS

I'm sending home school work each Friday in folders. If you're curious about what we've been doing, check it out. If you're looking for math to do at home, students can finish any incomplete work (especially Math Boxes).

For absent students, Google Classroom will be up and running for work at home the week of September 21st.

OUR WEEK OF LEARNING

Reading: We're finishing up our beginning of the year assessments and starting book clubs!

Writing: We're wrapping up our personal narratives, adding sensory details, editing, and sharing our work.

Math: We're using our rounding skills and learning estimation strategies. Here's the Unit 1 Home Link Letter for more details and a peak at what's coming next.

Theme: We're starting a project called Adaptasaurus. We each get to create a creature with unique adaptations that allow it to thrive in its environment. This will kick start our science units on body systems and Earth systems.

Social/Emotional: We're learning about "netiquette" and what it means to be a good digital citizen.
