OUR WEEK OF LEARNING

Reading: We're using our read aloud Fish in a Tree to make inferences and also practice writing about reading. We get asked a lot to explain our thinking. It takes practice, but we're using sentence starters to help us get started.

Writing: We're really working on the editing process with our nonfiction writing. We're also doing a daily grammar review. We're talking about nouns, correcting sentences, and diving into prefixes and their meanings.

Math: We're loving fractions! This week we'll talk about the relationship between numerators and denominators. We'll also look at benchmark fractions.

Theme: We're taking a moment to focus on digital citizenship. How do we conduct ourselves and make good choices on devices and the internet?
